Six-Seek Nomination for U.S. Senate Seat

By JOHN C. MCDONALD
Minneapolis Tribune Staff Writer

Potential candidates can continue to reach informed voters who know them by voting to determine which candidates they will support for the Sept. 14 Minnesota primary election.

The list already is long and includes four of the six candidates who seek the Democratic-Farmer-Labor nomination.

The Tribune asked them to give their views on six major issues. One candidate will survive out of each, to face runoff voting in the general election Nov. 2.

The following candidates, in the order in which they were asked to number them, are: Hubert H. Humphrey, DFL; Daniel W. Smith, DFL; Walter M. Mondale, DFL; and Walter Toomey, DFL.

2 Seek Nominations for Regulatory Unit

Questions Asked Candidates for Railroad, Warehouse Unit

The Minneapolis Tribune asked each candidate for railroad and warehouse commissioner the following questions.

1. Have you ever been financially interested in the railroad and warehouse commissioner?

2. What changes, if any, do you favor in the operation of the railroad and warehouse commissioner's office?

3. Do you think that railroad and warehouse commissioner's office should be run by one man, as required by the governor? If appointed, what should be the length of the term?

Republican

C. H. SWANSON, 55, Minneapolis, farmer and live stock dealer, city council, last 25 years, 1924-1949, supreme court judge 1936-1949. Major看不出, Minnesota National Guard, 1918-1919, 1930-1931. Elected to this office October 2, 1942. 4 years. 1 re-election. 2810 University Ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

Shawnson, a former state representative, has served as a member of the Minnesota House of Representatives from 1924 to 1949. He is a member of the Minnesota Republican Party and has been a vocal advocate for agricultural interests. Shawnson has a strong record of service in state and local government, and he is known for his conservative approach to governance.

Rail, Warehouse Officials' Duties

The railroad and warehouse commissioners are responsible for the regulation of the railroad and warehouse systems. Their duties include:

1. Overseeing the collection of tariff information and the examination of railroad and warehouse rates.

2. Conducting investigations and hearings regarding violations of the railroad and warehouse commissioner's regulations.

3. Issuing licenses to railroad and warehouse companies and enforcing the terms of those licenses.

4. Exercising jurisdiction over railroad and warehouse rates and charges.

5. Hearing and determining complaints filed by railroads and warehouse companies.

6. Inspecting railroad and warehouse facilities and equipment.

7. Issuing and enforcing orders for the improvement of railroad and warehouse facilities.

8. Making reports to the governor and the legislature on the operation of the railroad and warehouse commissioner's office.

9. Maintaining records and accounts of the railroad and warehouse commissioner's activities.

10. Performing other duties as assigned by the governor and the legislature.
Coroner Race Features

Two of the three candidates for nomination as Hennepin county coroner in the Sept. 14 primary election were elected to compete in the general election Nov. 2.

The incumbent, Dr. Roland J. Pine, was seeking re-election.

The Citizens League of Greater Minneapolis asked the candidates for biographical information and information on what stands on the three issues. Their answers, numbered in the same sequence as the questions in the box on this page, follow:

1. Thirty-five years in MB. Special work at University of Minnesota.
2. Bachelor's degree in business.
3. Have been in practice 30 years. Are long enough in the profession to know the needs of the public.
4. "Do you feel the people need legal treatment in court?"
5. As the office of coroner is county wide, we must have a judge and an attorney who are well qualified in the county.

1. Thirty years in business. Letter to all coroners of the state, Democrat.
2. "What you feel is the most important problem that the county coroner office must face today?"
3. "What you feel is the most important function that the office of the county coroner should perform?"

1. Thirty years in business. Name of all coroners of the state, Democrat.
2. "What you feel is the most important problem that the office of the county coroner must face today?"
3. "What you feel is the most important function that the office of the county coroner should perform?"

Three-Way Contest Questions Answered by Coroner Candidates

Questions Answered by Coroner Candidates

1. What training and experience have you had that you believe qualifies you for the office of Hennepin county coroner?
2. What do you understand to be the broad functions of the office of Hennepin county coroner?
3. What do you consider the most significant problem or problems now confronting the office? What solutions would you suggest?

Some Officials Face No Contests

Several Hennepin county officials will be re-elected in 1964, according to the general election Nov. 2 and without general election opposition Nov. 1.

Candidates for three other offices received nominations without opposition; their names will carry on the final ballot.

The three are the county treasurer, for which incumbent Sheriff Bennyhoff, 33, 60th avenue S.W., supporting Democrat Clarence S. Palmier, Nov. 2; county councilman, the fourth district and county superintendent of schools, Kenneth McCabe will challenge incumbent Commissioner L. G. Soot, in the county board race.

Mrs. Villa Thieman, 3613 Glen lake, assistant superintendent of schools, and Bert J. Johnson, 1605 Louisiana avenue, St. Paul, will seek the superintendent job.

Uncoupled for re-election are the county auditor, whose names will not appear on the primary ballot.

District court Judges D. E. Larrabee, Fairmont, H. E. Slomski, St. Paul, and Robert Hoffman, Minneapolis, will face no opposition.

George W. Matthews, county attorney, has no opposition.

Michael J. Dillon, county attorney at law, received the endorsement of Robert F. Fitzsimmons, the two-person ticket.

Philip C. Schmitt, clerk of courts, will face no opposition.

Views of Twin Cities Congress Candidates

By JOHN C. McODonald

The Minneapolis Tribune asked each candidate for Congress the following questions. Answers below are numbered in sequence as the questions were asked.

1. Should the federal government's long-range farm policy support crops of high labor value? (a) financial price supports; (b) fixed price supports; or (c) no price support.

2. Should United States policy in Southeast Asia call for (a) maintaining the status quo; (b) global world backing; (c) setting up a geographic line in Southeast Asia and attacking Communist forces if they cross it; (d) recognition of Red China; (d) admission of Red China to the United Nations Assembly; (e) all-out support of Nationalist China?

3. Do you favor changes in the U.S. tariff? If so, what changes?

4. Is it in the interest of the United States to promote non-Communist countries against the U.S.S.R. by use of American troops abroad, to stop Communist military aggression? If yes, what measures would you favor to stop Communist military expansion? If not, why?

5. Should our domestic loyalty and security program be working well, or not?

6. Do you favor continuation of foreign military aid? For what reasons?

7. How would you vote in the following situations?

(a) MCA post (executive secretary, Washburn branch) to re-organize for Congress service.
(b) Member of Congress representing, Minneapolis school children. Graduates Macalester College and holds law degree from University of Minnesota. For many years served in Downtow
(c) General duty in the Maritime area.
(d) Voter of Minneapolis, member of United States Congress association, member of United States congress league. Editor-in-chief, PTA, Chicago Public Schools. chair of committee studying secondary education. Minneapolis.

9. Farmers are like other free loving Americans; they do not want to be dependent on government. Unfortunately, many blinkers of the past are forcing the farmer into the uncomfortable position where he has lost much of his independence, business acumen, and control.

10. Farmers do not want to be controlled, but they do need the protection of price supports. Any reduction in support levels that diminishes the purchasing power of the farmer also hurts the consumer. Therefore this year we must fight to avoid a sudden decline in support levels.

11. Farmers in the third congressional district are a vital part of our total economic picture, and therefore not only need protection, but help in other areas. Farmers should be offered assistance in new soil conservation methods, and agricultural research should be directed toward new crops and products.

12. In what way do you see the potential advance of Communism in America? What must we do to stop the spread of Communist influences?

13. We are constantly being told that we are not fighting to survive, but to fight to conquer. These falsifications are paid to increase the cost of living, therefore we are not fighting to survive, but to fight to conquer.
Questions Asked Candidates for Seats in Congress

The Minneapolis Tribune asked each candidate for congress a few key questions. Below are the answers provided in the same sequence as the questions.

1. Would you favor either recognizing Red China or the admission of Red China to the U.N.? In regard to your point on recognition, I believe that the United Nations is a political organization which our country needs. Therefore, I am opposed to recognizing Red China. In regard to admission to the United Nations, I recognize that this is an international body, and I think that the United Nations should be representative of the free nations of the world; therefore, I am opposed to the admission of Red China to the United Nations.

2. Should U.S. policy in Southeast Asia call for (a) high, rigid price supports; (b) flexible price supports; (c) no price supports? (b) I believe that the U.S. should provide enough aid to help Southeast Asian countries purchase food and agricultural products. The only way to meet this need is by providing agricultural assistance. A high price support policy is not feasible because it would cause prices to be too high for consumers in Southeast Asia. Therefore, I believe that the U.S. should provide flexible price supports.

3. Do you favor changes in the U.N. charter? If so, what? I believe that we should strengthen the U.N. charter to make it more effective in dealing with international problems. Specifically, I would like to see the U.N. given greater authority to bring about world peace and security.

4. In what interest of the United States is protection of the lives of American civilians in Vietnam important? (a) I believe that the lives of American civilians in Vietnam should be protected because it is in the national interest of the United States to have a stable government in Vietnam. If American civilians are killed, it will make it more difficult for the United States to achieve its goals in Vietnam.

5. Do you feel that our domestic loyalty and security programs are working well, or not? I believe that our domestic loyalty and security programs are working well. These programs have prevented many potential threats to our national security.

6. Do you favor continuation of foreign military aid? Foreign economic aid? I believe that foreign military aid is necessary to ensure the stability of our allies and to protect our national security. However, I do not believe that foreign economic aid is necessary. Instead, I believe that foreign economic aid should be replaced with economic assistance.

RICHARD C. (DICK) JAHNSEN, 64, 1421 Eagan avenue, St. Paul, real estate agent, sales co-ordinator, Mercantile Mortgage Co., college graduate. For DFL nomination, to succeed Hansen in the 2nd district. (a) I believe that the United Nations should be strengthened to make it more effective in dealing with international problems. Specifically, I would like to see the U.N. given greater authority to bring about world peace and security.

2. No. I believe that the U.S. should provide enough aid to help Southeast Asian countries purchase food and agricultural products. The only way to meet this need is by providing agricultural assistance. A high price support policy is not feasible because it would cause prices to be too high for consumers in Southeast Asia. Therefore, I believe that the U.S. should provide flexible price supports.

3. No. I believe that we should strengthen the U.N. charter to make it more effective in dealing with international problems. Specifically, I would like to see the U.N. given greater authority to bring about world peace and security.

4. Yes, I believe that our domestic loyalty and security programs are working well. These programs have prevented many potential threats to our national security.

5. Yes, I believe that foreign military aid is necessary to ensure the stability of our allies and to protect our national security. However, I do not believe that foreign economic aid is necessary. Instead, I believe that foreign economic aid should be replaced with economic assistance.

6. Yes, I believe that foreign military aid is necessary to ensure the stability of our allies and to protect our national security. However, I do not believe that foreign economic aid is necessary. Instead, I believe that foreign economic aid should be replaced with economic assistance.
Questions Asked of Legislative Candidates

The Citizens League of Greater Minneapolis asked each legislative candidate the following questions, which are numbered in the same sequence as the questions.

1. Would you favor creating a present federal postal facility or support in some other tax task: (a) state in current year, (b) state in next year, (c) state in year after next? If you don't favor any federal postal facility or support, what new taxes do you favor?

2. Do you favor abolishing dedicated funds, with such revenue going into the general revenue fund to be spent as directed by the legislature?

3. Do you think first-class cities should be given added taxing powers? If so, what type of tax do you favor?

4. Do you favor increasing basic state educational aids?

5. Do you favor: (a) a metropolitan transit authority to serve the Twin Cities metropolitan area; (b) a county or metropolitan park system? If you favor any of these, please list your reasons.

6. Do you favor: (a) a national organization to maintain a federal peace corps? (b) a county or metropolitan park system? (c) a law to prevent abandonment by a county or metropolitan park system? (d) a county system of relief should be abolished. Please list your reasons.

7. Would you believe that in the next two years probably some present taxes may be increased but I don't advocate a general sales tax as it places the burden on the little fellow.

8. Do you favor: (a) a federal tax on the gross income of all people; (b) sending to a state capital; (c) a county system of relief should be abolished. Please explain.

9. (a) Favor immediate steps to call a constitutional convention. (b) The present constitution just doesn't do the job. (c) A new state constitution should be submitted to the 28th session of the legislature. Please explain.

10. (a) Favor immediate steps to call a constitutional convention. (b) The present constitution just doesn't do the job. (c) A new state constitution should be submitted to the 28th session of the legislature. Please explain.

11. Do you agree that the state should adopt a policy necessary to protect the civil rights of all our people, including Negroes, and to increase our present programs of education?

12. (a) A state department of education has been established. (b) We need a state department of education. (c) We don't need a state department of education. Please explain.

13. Do you favor abolition of state one-man districts?
Minnesota has had recent difficulties in keeping its lieutenant governor.

Gov. C. Elmer Anderson moved up to accept the governorship when V.V. Wam-dahl resigned. Ancher Nelson quite surprised the legislature by going governor 17 months ago to become head of the rural electrification administration. He's now the dean, Builad O. Wright, who as president pro tempore of the senate was eligible to succeed as Nelson's successor; finally took over last week. He will serve his second term if approved January 1.

There will be 14 candidates running for the post in the Sept. 14 primary election. Of all six Democrats, Farmer-Laborites and one of eight Republicans will survive the primary and do battle in the general election Nov. 2.

The Minneapolis Tribune asked them to take a stand on six issues. The issues were the same as the questions in the box on the question page, this week.

DUTIES OF THE STATE AUDITOR

The state auditor is responsible for administration of Minnesota's financial affairs. He maintains the general books, accounts and records and assists the state in its financial accounting system to be used by all departments.

CANDIDATES UNOPPOSED FOR AUDITOR

Both Republican and Democratic nominating conventions have only one candidate for auditor and the incumbent will be nominated without opposition in Tuesday's primary election.

Both names will appear on the primary ballot, however, the Republican candidate has asked them for brief information of themselves and their activities.

Republican

STAFFORD KINGSLEY, 60, 1913 Stanwood avenue, St. Paul, Married, two children. State auditor since 1951. Veteran of Mexican border war and World War I and II and now inactive on leave of absence. One-time Republican candidate and dissenting member American Legion. The Minnesota State Capitol is the home of the Minnesota Legislature, where the state's bicameral legislature meets to make laws for the state. The building is located in St. Paul, Minnesota, across the Mississippi River from its larger twin city, Minneapolis. The Capitol was designed by Cass Gilbert and built between 1905 and 1907. It is one of the largest capitols in the United States and is considered a masterpiece of Beaux-Arts architecture.

The Capitol houses the Minnesota House of Representatives and the Minnesota Senate, as well as a variety of other facilities, including offices for state legislators, committees, and staff. The building's design includes numerous symbols and motifs that reflect the state's history and culture, such as the steel beams that were salvaged from the old capitol building and incorporated into the new structure.

In addition to its legislative functions, the Capitol is also a popular tourist attraction and a symbol of state pride. The building is open to the public and offers guided tours and self-guided tours, which allow visitors to explore the building's architecture, art, and history.

The Minnesota State Capitol is an iconic symbol of democracy and a testament to the state's commitment to governance and public service.
